

Job Opening: Strategist and Operationalist 1 (SO1)

Location: Los Angeles, CA (Hybrid/Flexible Travel Required)

Compensation: $30,000 - $60,000 Annual Salary

Benefits: Comprehensive package, company-provided smartphone, and company provided laptop.

The Role: Strategist and Operationalist 1 (SO1)

We are seeking a highly sophisticated, globally-minded professional to serve as the core operational and strategic hub for the Founder/Principal. The Strategist and Operationalist 1 (SO1) is a specialized, integrated role designed to handle critical logistical, financial, and relational challenges across professional and personal domains.

This position demands a unique blend of strategic planning, discreet execution, and high-stakes management. The SO1 is responsible for creating maximum efficiency for the Principal by overseeing complex operations, managing external communications, and executing hands-on logistical tasks worldwide. The work requires seamless collaboration across remote, office, and on-location environments.

Core Responsibilities

I. High-Level Strategy & Executive Workflow

- Serve as the key operational partner, managing the Principal's complex schedule, prioritizing communications, and preparing high-level documents for meetings and negotiations.
- Develop strategic frameworks for internal projects, partner outreach, and organizational growth initiatives.

II. Global Operations & Logistics Management

- Plan, coordinate, and execute all domestic and international travel, ensuring seamless transit, accommodation, and on-the-ground support.
- Manage a fluid work environment that necessitates a balance of office presence, remote management, and immediate readiness for location-based support.
- Handle all aspects of secure procurement, including purchasing, expert packaging, and arranging reliable domestic and international shipping of sensitive or time-critical materials.

III. Financial Stewardship & Asset Management

- Oversee operational budgets and manage detailed expense reporting.
- Coordinate complex, high-volume purchasing decisions with a focus on value and fiduciary responsibility.
- Manage personal and professional assets and confidential information with absolute discretion.

Qualifications & Requirements

Education & Professional Experience

- Master's Degree preferred. (Bachelor's degree also required.)
- Minimum of three (3) years of demonstrated, high-impact professional experience in a highly demanding, fast-paced environment involving complex operations, client relations, or executive support.

Operational & Mobility Requirements

- Must possess a current, valid passport and be legally authorized to work and travel internationally without restriction.
- Extensive prior experience with both domestic and complex international travel.
- Valid U.S. Driver's License and willingness to drive for various logistical needs.
- Proven hands-on capability in complex logistical execution, including driving, detailed purchasing, professional packaging, and coordinating shipping processes. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to a diverse and inclusive workplace.
